

FEASIBILITY ANALYSIS

When we had to do our software engineering project, we started brainstorming and started finding out loopholes that are present which we can fill through our website. So, we came up with the idea of BigEye. BigEye will be a kind of website which will be a single platform for different aspects. For eg,

- Students achievements and guidance
- Previous year's question papers (Online and Offline)
- Student activities
- Information regarding competitions, seminars, workshops etc inside and outside the university
- Placement news
- Discussion forums
- Alumni contact
- Aptitude challenging practice questions and answers
- Suggestions by seniors and faculty to prepare for the placements in a better way.

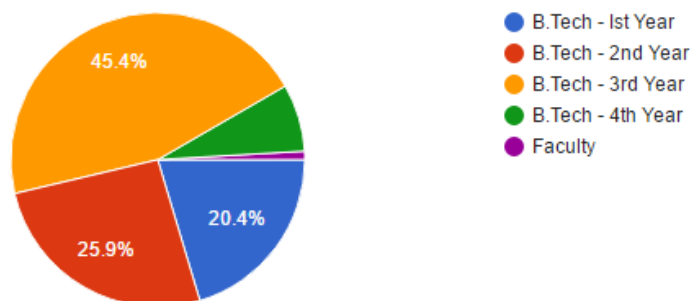

Therefore, we conducted a survey among our University students and asked them few questions and tried to find out whether this website will be useful or not for them.

The questions that we asked in the survey are:

Which options would they prefer to see in that website i.e. NU-BigEye.

We also asked them about their suggestions. We got more than 100 responses on our survey with which we come to know that people would really like to have a website like that. The responses that we got are as follows:

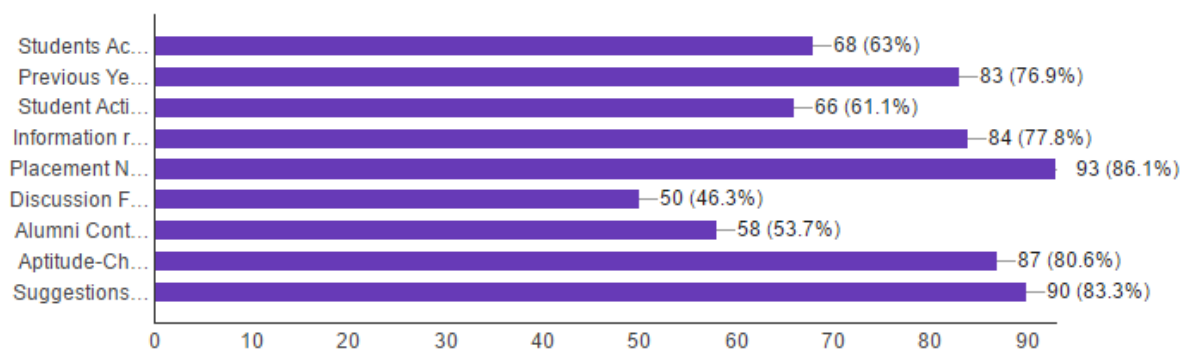

Batch (108 responses)

Any Suggestions? (20 responses)

|  |
|--|
| GO FOR IT GUYS. BHOT JALDI JAGA BHAI TU... :xD   |
| Nice idea :) some what similar to us .   |
| make an app which will give notification on any event  |
| Suggestions by seniors and faculty to prepare for Competitions such as GSoC, MSP or ACM ICPC   |
| Be in connect with the ongoing world is very important   |
| u have all the options   |
| Form a club for app development  |
| nothing  |
| I would like to have group discussions, personal interviews, and communication practice for us so as to get us prepared for the later years and for professional interactions!   |
| If this is going to be an app, then don't forget to add reminder notification  |
| Majority of this can be achieved by creating a page on Facebook and adding those people interested in this stuff. I being your target customer personally will feel lazy in logging on to some other website just for these stuff. |
| Information regarding seminars and workshops as well as interaction from seniors and faculties are always fruitful for us. This will be a really big help if these preferences are undertaken.                                     |

Which options do you prefer to see ? (108 responses)

Hence, we came up with the conclusion that our product is feasible enough to continue as a website as BigEye.